

The formal proposal for the NEMSPA En Route Decision Point protocol research project is undergoing final review and revision in order to produce the final draft that will be used for the conduct of the research project.

You may check back on this page at a later date to review an abstract of the research proposal.